

Weekly Programs

Black Powder Weapons: Important Tools of the Past

Both the employees of the Hudson's Bay Company and the soldiers of the US Army used blackpowder weapons for sport and for defense. Join rangers and volunteers as they explain the role of various weapons used by the people who lived here.

(Saturdays at 1:30pm at the reconstructed Fort and Sundays at 1:30pm on the Parade Ground)

Inside the Garden

A stroll through today's garden gives you a glimpse of the fort's agricultural history. Many of the vegetables and flowers grown in today's garden are heirloom varieties which could have been grown here during the historic period. Stop and chat with one of the dedicated Garden Volunteers, whose countless hours of labor make this garden possible. The variety of plantings still provide produce, and a place of beauty for visitors to see "such perfection in gardening". Visitors will find out more about the garden by looking for the Hudson's Bay Company Servant.

(Every Thursday/Saturday mornings in the garden)
